Class Notes

- Book orders are due on Thursday, March 9th. The original date labeled on the flyers were changed.
- At this point of the school year, many students are at the same reading levels. As we advance to chapter books, our books are limited by content. I have started using additional guided reading books that will be kept at school instead of going home. If your child is not bringing home as many books, they are still meeting with me daily to work on comprehension skills.

Parent Teacher Conferences start this week. If you need to reschedule your conference time, please call the office to reschedule. If you can not attend on one of the conference days, please email me and I will make accommodations to meet with you before or after school on another day.
